MAJOR AND MINOR LEAGUE HEADS ARE HEAVY LOSERS THIS SEASON

Little Circuit Magnates Will Not Receive Annual Amounts for Services of Crack Players and Stand to Lose Many Thousands of Dollars; War May Put the Small Leagues Out of Existence.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—The baseball outlook for 1918 is filled with uncertainties for club owners and players.

According to present plans, the major leagues will continue to operate in an effort to keep the game going; but if the world war is raging next March, with no evidence of peace in sight, it is practically certain that the minor leagues, with the exception of one or two, will keep their parades closed.

Will Continue Game.
The plan to continue baseball in the major leagues includes a provision for keeping several of the minor leagues in operation for the purpose of taking care of a limited number of players. The major leagues cannot live without a source of supply from which to draw playing talent, and they must have the minor leagues to assist in the development of players who need more training.

So, if the war continues, it is probable that the two big minor leagues—the American association and the International league—may be allowed to operate. The salaries of players will probably be greatly reduced in the majors, and further cuts will be made in the minor leagues in question if they continue to operate next year.

The powers that be in baseball are playing a waiting game just now, for there is nothing else for them to do but at the winter meetings of the two big leagues and the National Baseball commission agree to a series of measures which will arise next spring unless peace comes.

The club owner in any league who has lost players of the draft age on his team roster cannot be sure that his club will not be entirely wiped out by the time April 1, 1918, rolls around. For this reason the major leagues were wary about drafting players from the minors last month, and in most cases the eligibility of the player for the National draft was investigated before the club owners put in a baseball draft for him.

Many players who were purchased prior to the opening of the drafting season were bought with the provision that in case they were drafted for the national army the purchaser should be released from the obligation of paying for the player to them.

Minor League Men.
Major league club owners, who have thousands of dollars tied up in players, stand to lose heavily at any time, but the minor league owner, who depends on the sale of players to his club, even more so, is in a much worse position.

Baseball men who stand out as the promoters of the game are agreed that major league ball must be continued, practically at any cost, and they would gladly consent to its continuance under government supervision if necessary. A whole year without organized ball of any kind would be a terrific blow to the game, for organized baseball is a big business in which millions of dollars are tied up, and should it be killed for the period of even one year it would be set back at least ten years, according to those who are in a position to know.

The confidence that has been expressed by men high up in the baseball business that the game can be continued along modest lines is born of the belief that the public would be loath to see the national pastime torn to pieces. Baseball is a red-blooded game that has more followers than any other sport in the world, and after the war it is believed that the game will spread to all parts of the globe in due time.

If the game is protected it may not be a major league until freedom will be offered the chance to see a "world's series" in every sense of the word, with teams representing nations rather than leagues, playing for the title. This may sound like an idle dream, but such baseball men as Clark Griffith, Charlie Comiskey and Ban Johnson have considered it possible.

INFANTRY ELEVEN IS AFTER GAME
Serge John H. Nicholls, company K, 14th Infantry, is anxious to arrange a soccer game for the eleven of which he is manager. The infantry team was recently organized and is destined to train its strength against one of the local eleven at the El Paso Grande park.

The team will be entered in the new proposed soccer league which will be organized at a meeting to be held tonight at 214 S. South St. El Paso street.

WISER IS WALKED.
Second baseman Wisner, of the army team, was given a hard time in the final sixth inning Sunday afternoon by Fisher, simply for the purpose of getting him out of the way. Fisher and Duty thought that they could make easy work of Wisner, and were surprised when the latter hit the ball down to Medina, bringing in Howard for the first run.

FISHER FAILED TO CONNECT.
When Paul Fisher failed to connect for a hit in six trips out of the bat Sunday afternoon a number of fans were disappointed. Fisher fanned twice, and got one base on balls and a sacrifice hit. He hit the ball the other two times but none of the blows landed out of reach of the fielders.

NATIONAL LEAGUE MUST BRACE IF IT INTENDS TO WIN SERIES

Johnsonian Circuit Outclasses Parent Organization in World Series and Has Won Eight Out of the Last Nine Championship Pennants; Boston Club Is Only One That Has Held Own Against Rivals.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—The small old National league will have to whip up if it ever expects to be classed with the fast-stopping Johnsonian circuit in the matter of winning the world's championships.

Since the two majors began world's series in 1903, 14 contests for the championship of the world and part of Germany have been played out of the 14 the American league has triumphed with nine, and the other circuit has been victorious in five.

Back in the old days the home team used to perch on the shoulders of the other league, but of late years it has been something else again for the pennant winners of the Johnsonian league have been steadily coming to the front since 1903.

Since 1915, when the Connie Mackes of the Philadelphia Athletics won the American league pennant, the American league has won 11 of the 14 world's series, which makes it almost unanimous.

American Is Victor.
Prior to the time the National league, or rather the old Cuba, Giants and Pirates were in the south and the Boston Braves were in the north, the American league had won 11 of the 14 world's series, which makes it almost unanimous.

One Break in the Long string of recent American league victories came in 1916, when the Boston Braves won all championships by taking the Athletics in an upset election.

The Braves were a four straight games of ball. It took the American league practically seven years to take the standard of the National, and now the Boston Braves are four up on the "World Series" circuit.

The failure of the Philadelphia Athletics in three out of the last four world's series has been a serious blow to the league, for prior to 1915 it was just about fifty-fifty.

National Is Fair.
On one respect the National league has not been a rival. Though its representatives have made a comparatively poor showing on more than one occasion they have never reached the state, who has been ordered to the state, who has been ordered to the state, who has been ordered to the state.

In two series, the 1914 clash between the Braves and Athletics.

and the Cuba-Tigers clash in 1907 the National league cleaned up by winning four straight games, but after losing the first game, while the Athletics did not have as much as a tie in their series with the Braves.

COMPANY C IS VICTOR IN GAME
The fast company C football team defeated Company A Sunday morning in a fact game at the 34th regiment grounds by the score of 40 to 0. The ball was kept in company A territory during the greater part of the game, the company C athletes playing an excellent offense and a defense.

CATCHER CADDY IS MUCH IMPROVED
Later reports from the automobile accident in which Caddy, catcher for the Boston Red Sox, was hurt near his home at Bishop Hill, Ill., recently show he is still in a serious condition, though he will recover. Caddy's right collar bone was broken, his left shoulder blade broken, a number of teeth knocked out and his face and head cut and bruised. He was unconscious for some time. Physicians cannot say as yet if he ever will be able to play ball again.

SWEDISH ACCEPT RECORD
The Swedish Amateur Athletic association has officially accepted John Zander's new world record of 2:54.7 for the 1000 meter run. The old record of 3:05.4 was held by the runner Kivimäki in the preliminaries of the Stockholm Olympic games in 1912. Zander's splendid performance is the more remarkable from the fact that he ran the entire distance alone.

LONGMEYER IS GOING.
Many baseball fans regret the leaving of Red Longmeyer, army football star, who has been ordered to the state, who has been ordered to the state, who has been ordered to the state.

Longmeyer has been in El Paso for about five years and is one of the best-known of the army athletes.

El Pasoans Lose Friend In Sportsman Longmyre

When the Golden State Limited leaves for the north some time Wednesday afternoon it will carry aboard one of the best amateur sportsmen known to fans of the border.

Longmyre, the former of Red Longmyre, baseball and football player, who has been ordered to service in the east, Longmyre received final orders to report for duty elsewhere Tuesday morning and had but little time to make farewell to the many friends he has made during his term of service in El Paso—a period of about five years.

Longmyre first became known to the fans during the city league season of 1912. He later graduated into the Army baseball league, one of the best circuits in the history of the southwest, and was a member of the pennant-winning 20th infantry appreciation in the days of World War I. Graham, Swade, Souther and others in 1918 Longmyre became identified with the city league again, and also played with the 20th infantry until he was transferred to the hospital corps. Organizing a team from hospital corps No. 1, he had little difficulty in defeating the club of the Army league with Kansas pitching.

During the 1917 season Longmyre remained with the Fieldston team and was named to the hospital corps. At the advent of the football season Longmyre organized a football team from the ranks of hospital corps No. 1, and which played practically every organization on the border and found supporters to cement relations between civilian and military athletic interests.

Longmyre carries the best wishes of the fans with him on his eastern tour, before the last of the "old guard" to go. It is needless to state this, of course, as the sportsman athlete has worked himself into a well-earned place in the hearts of local fans, and will always be remembered as one of the best amateur sportsmen on the border.

Longmyre's departure is a great loss to the fans of the border, and it is hoped that he will return to the city league again, and also play with the 20th infantry until he is transferred to the hospital corps.

FABER DID NOT EQUAL RECORD

Lacks 17 Innings of Taking Iron Man's Mark in the World Series Games.

Despite the fact that he pitched in four games and won three decisions over the Giants, Urban (Red) Faber fell just 17 innings short of equalling the all-time "Iron Man" record for a world's series.

The Chicago pitcher, away from the "bumper" by McGraw to have him beat the Giants out of a world's title, pitched 27 innings in four contests during the 1917 series between the Pirates and Red Sox and won two of the three games.

Faber will receive the tribute that goes with winning three games in one series and taking the "Iron Man" record. Only six other pitchers have won three games in one series and taken the "Iron Man" record.

No other pitcher has quite as heavy a burden as did Phillips back in 1903 when he won three games in one series and took the "Iron Man" record. Phillips started and finished five of the first, third, fourth, seventh and eighth.

Gridiron Notes
UTAH BEATS COLORADO.
Logan, Utah, Nov. 7.—The Utah Agricultural college today defeated the Colorado Agricultural college by the score of 47 to 7. The Utah team excelled in every particular and at no time was the Colorado team a factor in the game. The two touchdowns came as the result of a stupid play on the part of the Colorado team. The Utah team was victorious in every play.

MAY REVIEW BIG WESTERN CLASSIC
The proposal to stage a football game between players of the universities of Chicago and Michigan for the purpose of raising money for the relief of the victims of the recent flood in the middle West, has been accepted by the two universities. The game will be played in Chicago on November 15, 1918.

PRESIDENT BAUM CALLS MEETING
President Baum of the University of Chicago called a meeting of the faculty on November 7, 1918, for the purpose of discussing the situation in the middle West. The meeting was held in the University of Chicago building and was attended by the faculty and the president.

CHICAGO ON THE JOB
Backlog Chicago was right on the job in the fourth game of the world's series, both at bat and in the field. Chicago hammered out one hit, but was also hampered by Chicago. As every other member of the civilian team struck out at least once, this is not a disgrace.

ROBINSON HAS CONTRACT
New York, Nov. 7.—Willard Robinson, manager of the Brooklyn National league club, signed a contract to continue his management of the team for the season of 1919.

DESINGER IS CHAMPION
Albany, N. Y., Nov. 7.—Henry Desinger won the lightweight wrestling championship of the world at a meeting of the National Wrestling association held in Albany, N. Y., today. He defeated the champion of the world, who was also a champion of the world, by a score of 27 to 9.
